

FY 2017 Staff Accomplishments

Kyle Breneman presented “User-Driven Website Design: You CAN Do User Research!” and “MD-SOAR: Collaborative, Centralized Infrastructure for Open Access Scholarship in Maryland” (with Joseph Koivisto and Annamarie Klose Hrubes) as poster sessions at the 2017 Maryland Library Association Annual Conference.

Natalie Burclaff co-authored “Teaching information literacy via social media: An exploration of connectivism” in Library Philosophy and Practice; co-presented “Critical and Conflicted: A Reflection on Existing Tensions in Curriculum Mapping” at the LOEX 2017 Annual Conference; and co-presented “Information Literacy as Smuggled Cargo: Embedding Learning Outcomes using Curriculum Mapp” at the 2017 Maryland Library Association Conference.

Aiden Faust presented “What Baltimore Learned from the War on Poverty” at Baltimore City Historical Society’s 2017 History Evenings Lecture Series; presented “African American History in the Baltimore Regional Studies Archives” at Johns Hopkins University’s Baltimore Africana Archives Symposium; and received a University of Baltimore Foundation Fund for Excellence grant for “Summer Research Fellowship on Structural Inequality.”

Mike Kiel was elected Vice-President/President Elect for the Association of College & Research Libraries, Maryland Chapter and concluded a successful multiyear tenure as Treasurer for Maryland Information Literacy Exchange.

Sean Hogan presented and authored “Assessing Access Services: Executing a 5-Year Plan for Sustainable Assessment” at the 2017 American Library Association Annual Conference; chaired “MAILL Update” at the Maryland Interlibrary Loan 2017 Summer Meeting; moderated “Statistics” at the Maryland Interlibrary Loan Group 2017 Summer Meeting; presented “Implementing Book Chapter Borrowing/Lending in RapidILL” at the 2017 University System of Maryland and Affiliated Institutions Interlibrary Loan All-Supervisors Meeting; presented “Mining ILLiad Data to Develop User Profiles” at the 2017 University System of Maryland and Affiliated Institutions Interlibrary Loan All-Supervisors Meeting; and moderated “Free Resources on the Internet” to the Maryland Interlibrary Loan Group.